Based on the above inspection, the main strengths of the childminder are:

- Gemma has embraced suggestions on how to improve her childminding practice and consequently the children are getting a good quality of care and education
- Gemma has very good relationships with families and all parents speak highly of her services
- Gemma teaches the children to talk about how they feel and the reasons for it, promoting well-being and resilience
- The children that attend Gemma's setting are happy, confident and ready and eager to learn

The childminder must carry out the following actions to meet registration criteria:

• Improve nappy change procedure to ensure hygienic practice and to support children's growing independence	By 2/4/19
• Enhance knowledge of signs of female genital mutilation for older children	By 15/4/19

The following development plan will further improve the quality of their childminding service:

- Gain feedback from parents and children to ask for ideas to develop the setting further
- Increase range of resources to reflect and celebrate all types of diversity –e.g. races, religions, genders, ages, abilities
- Include a photo of a significant member of each family on the corkboard to discuss, for example, where the family member is or what they do as a career
- Enhance outdoor learning environment by carrying out own plans for improvement
